

Other Media

As a source of information

First there were lookouts, then:

Armies

Meetings

Town Criers

Bulletin Boards

Radio

Newspapers

Magazines

Television

The Internet

The Internet has become a major source to give and receive information.

Many newspapers have gone out of business and more are dying.

The amount of information on the Internet is huge and growing. Much of the information is accurate but some is not. There is a problem of censorship that is growing around the world. Even in the United States stories are often not reported or pulled because of "political correctness." This is a form of censorship. Also there is foreign ownership of many TV stations. Saudi oil money has bought large portions of TV stations and news organizations. As a reporter you risk being fired if you report on any story that is negative toward them or their religion. Also big Saudi money has been able to put out propaganda and to actually get opposing stories and videos removed from public view. ALSO CHINA is a growing force in the USA. Why? Because the US Congress borrowed trillions from them and now that our taxpayer dollars are now financing their military with our money and since Chinese science education and technology will soon surpass the USA.

BUT regarding media NOW LOOK FOR: The Social Media and The Cloud

News, texts, pictures will all be delivered to your phone daily. But there is a problem even with that. With newspapers you could see who the reporter was and even go talk to him at his office. Now you don't know who the reporter was and he is out there in the cloud and may even be a fictitious government creation put there to control you. Read the book 1984 and Brave New World. Do I exaggerate? Look what Hitler and Joseph Goebbels did with the media in the late 1930s, look what North Korea did with its population (brainwashing) look what China does with their Internet and News. Is Big Brother coming here. Too late Big Brothers are probably already here and just out of sight. Don't believe it look at the bailout in 2008. They told the congress and President what to do and the congress and President did it. And who paid and is paying for it? You are.
